You may not be aware of this right now, but the job that's perfect for you is much closer than you think. And if you're honest and you're willing to dig deep for answers, you'll find what it is. Just don't be afraid to reach for it.

And remember that you're more skilled than you think you are. You will be an asset to any business or company. So don't hold back. Be yourself, and go for it.

I'm always here if you need a word.
